

The Act Of Writing

Writing is a physical motor activity of coordinated movements by the fingers, hand, arm, or some combination of the three, interacting in a way to move the writing instrument in three dimensional space .

Overall slant is one of the easiest parts of a person's writing to change.